

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A box nailing machine comprising:

a box nailing machine body having a nail driving port from which nails are driven;

5 a handle portion having a handle arm; and a magazine for accommodating nails in it, the forward end portion of which is attached to the nail driving port, the portion of the magazine except for the forward end portion being attached to the handle portion via the handle arm;

10 wherein the magazine has a handle arm attaching portion for attaching the magazine to the handle arm;

the magazine is made of metal and formed substantially U-shape by press forming; and 15 a washer is integrally formed in the handle arm attaching portion so that the washer is disposed between a head portion of a fixing bolt and the magazine.

2. The box nailing machine according to claim 1, wherein the handle arm attaching portion protrudes toward 20 the handle arm; and the magazine is provided with an opening portion into which the fixing bolt can be inserted at a position opposed to the handle arm attaching portion.

25 3. The box nailing machine according to claim 2, wherein the protruding size of the handle arm attaching portion is equal to or larger than the height of a head portion of the fixing bolt.

5